THE PRIME MINISTER

13 December 2016

Dear President-Elect

I wanted to congratulate you on your election as President of the Republic of Ghana. I recognise that it was a hard-fought campaign and that your margin of victory was impressive.

Our two countries share a strong and long-standing relationship, and one which I value deeply. I believe that the period ahead offers us a great opportunity to do more together. I look forward to continuing our excellent co-operation on defence, drugs, crime and national security, and to working together on challenges such as tackling corruption. Alongside our ongoing support to Ghana in areas such as governance, poverty reduction, education and health, I hope that we can look to deepen our economic co-operation.

I wish you and the people of Ghana every success. I look forward to meeting you when you make a visit to London.

Yours sincerely
David Cameron

His Excellency President-Elect Nana Akufo-Addo
